

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT?

We will notify you prior to beginning detailed design

- » See timing poster for expected timing of work on your street
- » Individual residents on affected streets only will be notified at the beginning of the detailed design cycle, given more information and an opportunity to participate
- » Advance notice will also be provided via the “Projects Affecting You” area on our website
- » Design staff will continue to meet with home owners to address particular concerns
- » Customers have an opportunity to provide feedback on preliminary design if it varies significantly from today’s conditions
- » As always, customers are notified of the start and expected duration of the construction phase of our project
- » Advanced notice will be given for scheduled power outages
